The recreation project was discussed. The committee reacted favorably to sponsoring Bicentennial Youth Debates. The next meeting will be on August 13 in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

S. A. D. 44 BOARD ACCEPTS RESIGNATIONS - APPROVES PERSONNEL MONDAY NIGHT

A regular meeting of the board of directors of M. S. A. D. #44 was held in the auditorium at Telstar Regional High School Monday evening of this week.

The board rescinded its action of May 19 that revised the contract of Mrs. Margaret Davis, kindergarten teacher at Locke Mills, to full-time from half-time. Current kindergarten assignments have eliminated the necessity of the May action, and Monday's action reinstates the half-time status of the position.

The directors approved the nomination of Mrs. Nancy Davis to teach grade two at the Ethel Bisbee School for the 1975-76 school year. Mrs. Davis holds a B. A. from Austin College, Sherman, Tex., and has six years of teaching experience. She has taught grades 1 and 3 in New York State, and Zambia, Africa. Married with two children, she resides in Albany.

The board voted to hire three bus drivers as recommended by Richard Blake, transportation supervisor. Two licensed and trained drivers, Doris Mills and Rosalie Clough, already employed as part-time drivers by S. A. D. 44 were approved as full-time employees. The third position in the Andover area will be posted and applications accepted.

It was also voted to sell two buses by bid, a 1966 Chevrolet 66 passenger, and a 1965 Ford 66 passenger.

The board approved the request of Edward Flynn, Bethel elementary principal, to house the overflow of grade six students nominally assigned to the R. C. Foster School, to facilities at Telstar Regional High School for the 1975-76 school year.

As also requested by Edward Flynn, the board approved the location of a third grade division in the old kindergarten room in the basement at the Ethel Bisbee School for the 1975-76 year. It also approved the request to allow operation of the Bethel area sixth grade on an 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. daily schedule.

The board approved the following extra curricular assignments at Telstar for the 1975-76 year: Tim LaVallee, athletic director, Richard Collins, football coach, Peter Brown and Dan Hannon, assistant football, Kathy Dunham, field hockey.

North Woodstock

— Mrs. Linda Fraser, Correspondent —

Mr. and Mrs. "Joe" Cole spent Wednesday night at their trailer from their foster-parent job in Rumbold.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rosenberg and son, Matthew, from New Jersey, arrived Friday at his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rosenberg's for a weeks vacation. Mike Rosenberg will return with them for a short stay.

Children entering the Woodstock Bicentennial Kiddle parade Friday evening were Christine Davis as Raggedy Andy and Dawn Davis as Raggedy Ann, winning a $5 cash prize and Suzanne Billings as the Pinhook dog, winning a $10.00 gift certificate from the Woodstock Chamber and Mary Fraser as the Pinhook dog catcher, winning a $3 cash prize and Ricky Morgan as Uncle Sam, winning a pony ride.

At this time I would like to thank for me and the many parents I talked to, the adults in town who took the time to gather prizes for the children who entered the parade. Also thanks to the businesses and the private citizens who gave prizes or money for these children. I know my three year old was much happier with the three dollars than a boat ride around Lake Christopher. Also I appreciated the parents who tried to get the parade route shortened especially in 80 degree hot and humid weather. Next year maybe our pleas will be heard.

Many of the people in the neighborhood attended the second parade Saturday, the museum exhibit and slide show as well as the other activities in Bryant Pond.

Mrs. Doris Fraser of Bethel spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fraser and Mary. Larry Coffin is a surgical patient at Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway.

There will be a showing of the slide show that was held at the Woodstock Bicentennial Days on Tuesday, Aug. 12 at 7:00 p. m. at the North Woodstock chapel. Seats will be on a first come first served basis.

I'm sorry to say the slide show in the preceding announcement has to be cancelled. This is due to one selfish member of the Woodstock Chamber of Commerce who does not care if the shut-ins and older people see the slides. We are sorry to disappoint the older citizens who could not view these slides in the heat of the week end.

CONSUMER PRICE INDEX RISES .8% IN JUNE

The Consumer Price Index rose 0.8% in June to 160.6 (1967=100), the U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported last week.

Higher prices for meats, fresh fruits and vegetables, gasoline, and used cars and a rise in mortgage interest rates were responsible for about three-fourths of the June increase.

On a seasonally adjusted basis, the CPI rose 0.8% in June. In May, the CPI rose 0.4%, and in April it rose 0.6%. The increase was larger than in April and May primarily because of sharp increases in meat and gasoline.

The food index rose 1.5% in June, the largest increase since September of last year. The index for commodities other than food rose 0.5% and the index for consumer services rose 0.7% in June. These increases for both indexes were larger than in May.

Over the calendar quarter that ended in June, the CPI rose at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 7.1%. This compares with a 6.0% rate in the quarter ended in March and an 11.0% rate in the fourth quarter of 1974. The acceleration in the March-June period occurred primarily in the food and energy components.

The food index rose at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 10.0% in the calendar quarter that ended in June, following a small decline in the quarter that ended in March. This reversal was due to a sharp upturn in prices of meats, poultry and fresh vegetables. For most other foods, prices declined in the second quarter.

The rise in the index for commodities other than food moderated to a 5.9% rate in the calendar quarter that ended in June from a 7.4% rate in the preceding quarter. Prices rose at a slower rate for many commodities, including household durables, housekeeping supplies, drugs, alcoholic beverages, recreational goods, and new cars.

On the other hand, prices rose sharply for fuel oil, gasoline, and used cars. The index for fuel oil and coal rose at a 12.3% rate in the second quarter, after declining at an 8.1% rate in the first quarter. The gasoline and motor oil index rose at a 22.0% rate, compared with a 1.0% rate in the first quarter.

The services index rose at a 6.3% rate in the three months ended in June, compared with an 0.8% rate in the three months ended in March. The rise in charges for medical care services moderated in the second quarter, as did charges for other services such as auto repairs, drycleaning, recreational, personal care, housekeeping services, and electricity.

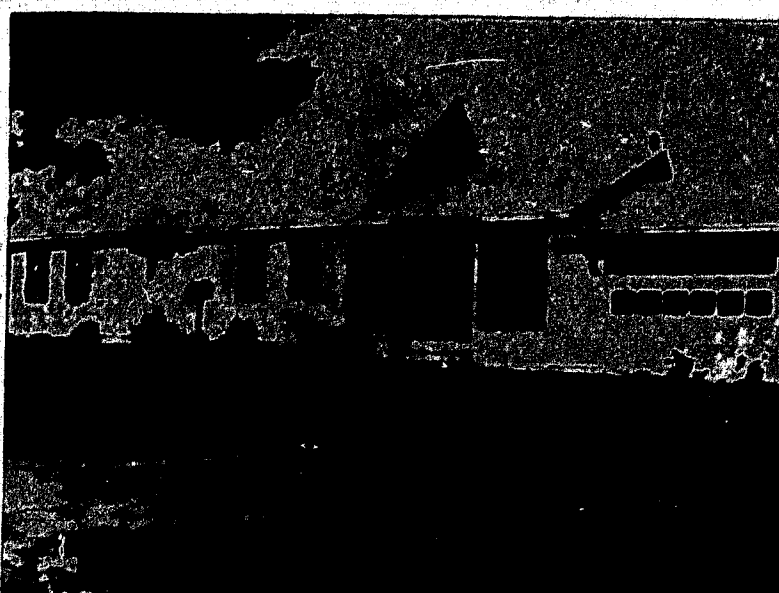

Mortgage interest rates continued to decline but by less than in the first quarter. Charges for natural gas continued to rise rapidly. Auto insurance and public transportation charges accelerated.

In June 1975, the CPI was 9.3% higher than in June 1974. The food index rose 8.8%, the nonfood commodities 9.3%, and the services index 9.8% from their June 1974 levels.

The index for food purchased in grocery stores—which is usually unchanged in June—increased 1.9%. The May increase was 0.4%. Beef prices, moving up contra-seasonally—rose 6.1%, following a rise of 7.6% in May. Pork prices rose 7.0% and poultry prices 5.3%.

In addition fresh vegetable prices rose 10.3%, much more than the usual seasonal increase. Fresh fruit prices rose seasonally.

Prices declined for all other categories of food—eggs, dairy products, cereal and bakery products, processed fruits and vegetables, fats and oil products, sugar and sweets, non alcoholic beverages, and partially prepared foods. The index for food away from home—

The old fashioned clothes worn by the guides and models in the Fashion Show are from the collection of Marie Lang. Saving and collecting them became a hobby of hers when she was teaching school and having to find such things for plays.

One of the oldest outfits is a polonaise probably worn by some ancestor of Alma Hewey's between 1770 and 1780.

The lovely cream colored dress with lace and sequin trimmings was worn by a lady, from the Ezekiel Merrill home, to a function in Washington, D. C., when Theodore Roosevelt was President, (1901-1909). This came to Marie from Bertha Fox who had enjoyed the same hobby for many years.

The collection includes wedding

SPINNING & NATURAL DYEING WORKSHOPS TO BE HELD AT SHAKER VILLAGE, AUG. 18-21

The Institute of Shaker Studies announces a series of Spinning and Natural Dyeing Workshops to be held at Sabbathday Lake Shaker Village on Aug. 18-21. The Workshops will be under the direction of Ann Foster, Spinner and Weaver in Residence, well-known to central and southern Maine residents as an expert in Early American Textile Techniques.

Ms. Foster studied with the internationally-known Allen Panin of Westdale, N. Y., as well as at the Haystack Mountain School of Crafts at Deer Isle. A contributor of articles to the "American Home Craft Magazine" as well as a designer for Tahki Imports of New York, Ms. Foster has taught spinning and weaving in Maine for two and one-half years.

The Spinning Workshops will be held on Monday, Aug. 18 and Wednesday, Aug. 20 from 9:30 a. m. to noon. The Natural Dyeing Workshops will be held Tuesday, Aug. 19 and Thursday, Aug. 21 during the same time period.

The one-session Introduction to Spinning Workshop will be centered around learning to prepare the fiber (concentrating on wool) and spinning with drop spindles as well as an introduction to different types of wheels.

The one-session Introduction to Natural Dyeing Workshop will concentrate on the gathering of dye stuffs, mordanting, and dyeing. Information will also be supplied on books and sources of supply.

Those desiring further information or wishing to register for any of the one-day Workshops may reserve places by calling or writing Sabbathday Lake Shaker Village, Poland Spring, Maine.

Shaker Village is located eight miles north of Gray on Route 26.

restaurant meals and snacks—rose 0.2%.

The index for nonfood commodities rose 0.5% in June. Over two-fifths of the rise was due to higher prices for gasoline.

Fuel oil prices rose 0.6% in June to a level 5.6% above their year-earlier levels.

Used car prices rose sharply in June. Prices rose moderately for most other non-food commodities, except apparel commodities which declined seasonally.

The services index rose 0.7% in June. Over a fourth of this increase was due to a rise in mortgage interest costs.

There were large increases in charges for natural gas, electricity, telephone services. Increases in charges for semi-private hospital rooms and physicians' fees were larger than in recent months. Railroad, airplane, and intercity bus fares rose, but local transit fares declined.

FOX RESIDENCE — The new home of Mr. and Mrs. Merton Fox, Pine Street, will be included in the tour of homes and historic sites which will be an all day feature of Andover's Bi-Centennial celebration.

30 Seconds WITH THE NAZARENE

Rev. Barbara Huse, Pastor

Bethel Church of the Nazarene

Some people say, "I have no time for Church. Anyway, I can't worship God in the great outdoors, fishing, swimming, golfing, camping, etc. Who ever said Church was important?"

The Bible says, "Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another: and so much the more so as ye see the day approaching." Hebrews 10:25.

What do you think about it? Now check once more what God's word has to say about it.

NEWS FROM TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH OF SOUTH PARIS

Members and visitors of Trinity Lutheran Church of South Paris recently took part in the Confirmation Service for five of its young people. This occasion is the opportunity for an individual to publicly state to the congregation his desire to be a full participating member of the congregation. This year the service was written by the members of the confirm class: themselves and was especially meaningful. Each person had completed two years of study under the pastor's guidance and during the service each one expressed what significance the Christian faith has for him and what some of his Christian concerns are.

Church members felt that the addition of Karla Heikkinen, Deborah Whitman, Cindy Snyder, Jonathan Roakes and John Simpson to active adult membership was an important event in the life of the congregation as well as having significance for these individuals as they grow in the Christian faith.

This summer there are Lutheran Services held at 11:00 each Sunday morning at the former Lutheran Church building in Harrison. These services began in July and will continue until Labor Day. The first Sunday of each month will be a Communion Service. The congregations look forward to welcoming old summer friends and hope that new visitors in the area will come to either the 9:00 service in South Paris or the 11:00 service in Harrison.

Deborah Whitman is the granddaughter of Mrs. Leona Curtis of East Bethel.

POLICYHOLDERS URGED TO REVIEW INSURANCE COVERAGE PERIODICALLY

Should your home be damaged or destroyed by fire or some other peril, the cost of repairs or replacement easily could exceed the dollar limits of your insurance policy.

Because of inflation, your property has increased greatly in value. For example, it would cost about $37,200 today to replace a house built in 1967 for $20,000.

The Insurance Information Institute suggests that you review your insurance coverage periodically and keep your home insured to its current value. This may require a higher premium, but you can help offset any increases by taking a higher "deductible" with your homeowner policy.

The higher the deductible—that amount of loss the policyholder agrees to assume—the lower your premium will be. Deductibles relieve insurance companies of the need to process minor claims, an expensive administrative process.

Because of the wide public acceptance of the deductible principle, its application is being expanded. More and more states now permit policyholders to choose deductibles of $250 and $500 under their homeowners coverage.

The usual deductibles are in the amounts of $50, $100, or $200.

Increasing the deductible from $100 or $250 will reduce your premium by 10%, but not more than $30. Increasing it from $100 to $500 means a reduction of 20% up to $60.

Similar savings are available to automobile owners on their collision and comprehensive (fire and theft) insurance. If $100 deductible collision coverage costs $100, $250 deductible would cost $60 and $500 deductible would cost $46. If full comprehensive coverage costs $100, $50 deductible costs $56 and $100 deductible cost $42.

Mr. and Mrs. Perley Tripp, Lake Worth, Fla., were Saturday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Stevens.

Mrs. Sheridan Smith and daughter Sonja from West Farmington, were guests of her aunt Ava S. Bessey recently. Mrs. Smith is the daughter of the late Linwood Stearns, Rumford Point.

The higher the deductible—that amount of loss the policyholder agrees to assume—the lower your premium will be. Deductibles relieve insurance companies of the need to process minor claims, an expensive administrative process.

Because of the wide public acceptance of the deductible principle, its application is being expanded. More and more states now permit policyholders to choose deductibles of $250 and $500 under their homeowners coverage.

The usual deductibles are in the amounts of $50, $100, or $200.

Increasing the deductible from $100 or $250 will reduce your premium by 10%, but not more than $30. Increasing it from $100 to $500 means a reduction of 20% up to $60.

Similar savings are available to automobile owners on their collision and comprehensive (fire and theft) insurance. If $100 deductible collision coverage costs $100, $250 deductible would cost $60 and $500 deductible would cost $46. If full comprehensive coverage costs $100, $50 deductible costs $56 and $100 deductible cost $42.

History of Andover

This is a brief history of the town of Andover, Maine taken from the Centennial Program of 1904.

One hundred and sixty seven years ago a body of citizens, mostly of the parish of North Andover, Massachusetts, sent forth in 1787 two of their members to find for them a territory in which to establish themselves and their families. The explorers, as they were to examine a vast wilderness, went on foot. On their way home through "Sudbury Canada", now Bethel, they met "Col." John York. He advised them, before making a final decision, to visit the lands now included in the town of Andover. Under the guidance of "Col." York, the explorers turned back and were so charmed with what they saw that they at once determined to recommend to their associates the purchase of the township which included such praised lands. A contract for the purchase of the township was made.

At a meeting of the proprietors, held September 4th, 1788, it was voted to raise one pound sixteen shillings to each sixtieth part of the township, for the purpose of completing payment for the township; also have a committee to view the streams of the town in order to obtain the best site for a saw mill and grist mill. At the same meeting, a committee was appointed to lay a road from New Penacook (now Rumford) as far as clearing for a settlement in the town had been made. It was voted that Col. Thomas Poor have sixty pounds and lot 1 on the east side of the river as a consideration for building a saw mill and grist mill in the town, he retained ownership of the same. The mill to be built was to be on the East Branch at what is now East Andover. Built in 1791 the saw mill supplied the lumber for the "Merrill House"

Most of the early settlers of Andover made their selection of lots, making clearings upon them, erecting buildings and moving to them, several years before they were confirmed to them by a vote of the proprietors.

The leading spirit in the enterprise was Ezekiel Merrill. Mr. Merrill and his family, with what ever could be provided for them, set sail early in May in 1789, the fleet consisting of seven canoes, managed by Pequawket Indians. The fleet proceeded down the Androscoggin River to the mouth of the Ellis River, and then up this river to where the east and west branches meet, a spot famed for its beauty, and well known as "The Meeting of the Waters." Mr. Merrill and his family, among this band, moved up the river to the spot near where the Merrill House now stands. They were thirty

MR. AND MRS. CHASE NOTE 50TH ANNIVERSARY JULY 20

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chase were guests of honor at a party July 20 at the K of P. Hall in Hanover, in observance of their 50th wedding anniversary. The affair was arranged by their daughter, sons and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Robertson of Bethel, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chase Jr. of Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chase of Danville, N. H.; Mrs. Rose Hutchins, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Chase of Hanover.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase (nee Agnes Foster of Newry) were married July 9, 1925, in Rumford.

The hall was decorated appropriately for the occasion by the grandchildren. A money tree was presented to them from relatives and friends, a corsage and boutonniere from Coburn's Flower Shop in Bethel, a colored TV from their children and a gold covered guest book.

They were greeted by 125 friends and relatives from such places as Florida, Indiana, Danville, N. H., Bethel, East Bethel, Hanover, Rumford Point, Rumford, Westbrook, Portland, Wayne and Locke Mills.

Refreshments were served. The three tier anniversary cake was made by Leona Flint of Bethel. The cake frosted in white with gold bells and numerals "50". After the bride and groom of another day cut the first piece of cake, it was cut and served by Mrs. Rose Hutchins.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase have spent most of their married life in Hanover. They had five children and have 17 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Andover was incorporated as a town, June 22, 1804. At the first town meeting, thirty dollars was voted to defray the annual expenses of the town, two hundred for the construction of roads and sixty for maintenance of schools. It was voted to allow six pence per hour for work done on roads.

In two or three years, however, as the soil was fertile and easily cleared, the family was wholly above want.

The settler who next followed Mr. Merrill to Andover was Enoch Adams. By him the greater part of the land in the township was allotted. He had a large family, of whom four sons, John E., in 1821 built a saw mill and grist mill on the east branch of the river, at what is now called "Andover Falls". Speedily following Enoch Adams, came Jonathan Philip and John Abbott with their families.

Greenwood City — Locke MillsMrs. Collette Morgan, Corres.

Every person should have a woodland he can call his own; a place where he can walk in peace and quietness. Trees are man's good friends at any season; tall oaks, maples, beeches and ashes stand like cathedrals, their branches forming arches above aisles. Moist humus underneath is spongy soft with richness. Always among the evergreens the air is fragrant as the trees murmur to each other. A place like this I visited this week and looked across the valley to the mountains; dark-blue and green; serene and steadfast against the horizon. These mountains have stood through cycling seasons to know the warmth of summer, the beauty of autumn, the snows of winter and the resurrection of spring.

I climbed the old spring road, now brush and fern tangled. There were old apple trees, lifting suppliant arms to the sun and sky; while higher up there were stone lined cellar holes, reminders of when all were thriving farms.

My intention was to reach the top farm-field where the last year was being cut but it was so hot that I turned back. However I did notice Queen Anne's white beauty brightening the corners of walls and occasionally sumac lighting their candles, wine red.

This is August, the month of humid sticky days plodding along reluctantly toward autumn; a month not popular with many but one that must take its place in the annual cycle. This is the other side of summer and Time is running down hill.

I came to a place where the pond was visible but no longer as pretty as in June. Many weeds stand above the water full of algae. It seems to have turned back to its remote beginning. Cattails hold their cylindrical brown heads to the sun, dragonflies drift and dart, and the heron with beady eyes and darting beak, stands, watching while the kingfisher neither pretty nor graceful is on hand to go "plunk" into the water.

The ducks greeted the evening, mother with her family of five. I suppose if we were nearer to see they'd look like strange little things, half downy, half quilled, impatient, everlastingly hungry, greedy; trying to steal from their mother. But they seemed pretty to watch from a distance.

Physical happiness is the birthright of wild creatures, and in no other way is it demonstrated as interestingly as learning to fly. They find an ever new world under their wings. First the land, long and wide with spangles every where of summer flowers. Then the pond long and vivid blue; cool where adventure waits. Then flights over the foothills hemmed in by the marshes and always to

AUTO MAKERS JOIN '76 FUEL ECONOMY LABEL PROGRAM

Eighteen auto manufacturers have agreed to participate in the 1976 voluntary "fuel economy" labeling program for automobiles and light-duty trucks. The program, jointly sponsored by the Environmental Protection Agency and the Federal Energy Administration provides that participating auto makers place stickers on all new light-duty vehicles, giving estimates of how many miles per gallon each can be driven.

Participating American auto makers are: American Motors, Chrysler, Ford, General Motors, Avanti and Checker. This is the first year that American Motors will participate. Foreign manufacturers in the program include: Volkswagen, BMW, and Mercedes-Benz, Germany; Brith Leyland and Rolls Royce, Great Britain; Isuzu, Honda, Toyo, Kogyo, Nissan, Toyota and Mitsubishi, Japan, and Saab-Scania, Sweden.

The fundamental objective of the labeling program is to reduce energy usage in transportation by (1) influencing consumers to purchase vehicles that get good fuel economy; (2) encouraging manufacturers to produce such vehicles; and (3) increasing public awareness of what factors influence fuel.

The miles-per-gallon figures that appear on the labels are derived at the time EPA tests motor vehicles to certify that they meet federal auto emission standards.

The vehicles are shipped by the manufacturer to EPA's test lab in Ann Arbor, Mich., where they are placed on a platform (dynamometer) and are driven on two pre-set driving cycles—one simulating city and the other a highway driving pattern. The hydrocarbon, carbon monoxide, and Carbon dioxide emissions collected during the two cycles are used to calculate city and highway fuel economy figures.

Manufacturers may choose to label their cars with either general or specific fuel economy data. Specific labels will provide miles per gallon figures for a specific vehicle configuration. Each specific label will give the vehicle's engine size; the number of cylinders in the engine; the number of barrels in the carburetor; the type of transmission (automatic or manual, and how many speeds if manual; the vehicle's inertia weight; the rear axle ratio; and the type of emission control system. The general label will give miles-per-gallon figures that are derived by taking results from all test vehicles within a car line-engine size group, and then averaging those figures according to the expected contribution of each specific vehicle to total sales of cars in that group. A car line-engine size group is limited to cars that have the same engine size, same number of cylinders, same type of carburetor, same type transmission (manual or automatic), and the same emission control system. A major change in the 1976 labeling program will be separate, general labels for automatic vs. manual transmissions. On specific, as well as general labels, the car buyer is reminded that the fuel economy achieved by any car varies, depending upon the owner's type of driving, driving habits, how well the car is maintained, optional equipment installed and weather and road conditions.

The 1976 labeling program is officially described in the June 20, 1975 issue of the "Federal Register".

The other news seem to be IT'S HOT! Everyone is feeling the heat. The temperature on our thermometer was 108 with the sun on the wires on our outside-inside thermometer when we arrived home Saturday afternoon. It was 72 in the early morning hours. It seems to be rather unusual for Maine to have such heat.

Mrs. Robert Corruthers (nee Rosanne Mason) was tendered a personal shower Sunday afternoon by her aunts, Goldie Mason, Nancy Mason and sister-in-law, Mrs. Kay Mason at the Mollycrockit Motel. Those attending from out-of-town were Mrs. Martha Corruthers, Massachusetts; Norma Griffin and Annette Conant, Oxford; Marlene Perry, Norway; Alberta Harlow, Freeport. There were around 25 present. Rosanne received a very nice variety of gifts. Several gifts were sent by some unable to attend. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Dr. and Mrs. Bob Corruthers of Massachusetts visited a short time with their daughter-in-law's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Mason, Sunday. They returned home directly after the shower for Rosanne Corruthers. They will be visiting friends on their way home.

The weather turned cooler on Sunday to the relief of all who had hard work to breathe on these sizzling days. A cold wind came in over the mountains.

Several attended the donkey ball game on the ball grounds at Bryant Pond Sunday afternoon.

Hazel Johnson passed away this week end at the Norway hospital where she had been the past two weeks. Mrs. Johnson is Mrs. Leon Verrill's mother and has spent many weeks with her daughter since she has been unable to be in her own home. Our sympathy goes out to the bereaved family.

OCEOC TO HAVE WORKSHOP AT SOUTH PARIS AUGUST 12

The Oxford County Economic Opportunity Council (OCEOC) will conduct a workshop on Child Neglect and Abuse on Tuesday, Aug. 12 from 9:00 a. m. to 1:00 p. m. The workshop will be held at the South Paris Fire Hall on Pine Street and the public is invited to participate.

"The purpose of the workshop," states Mrs. Dock, is to create an awareness of existing problems of child neglect and abuse, to familiarize responsible people with recent legislation defining reporting laws, to develop a human resources bank for Oxford County and to plan for the initial implementation of effective and coordinated action to provide concurrent rehabilitative and preventive action."

People requesting further information about the child neglect and abuse workshop should call Phyllis Dock at 743-5931 during days and 824-2778 during evenings.

"MacBeth" DID IT" TO BE PRESENTED ON UMF CAMPUS ON AUGUST 12-13-14

"MacBeth Did It," a lighthearted farce, has been selected as the University of Maine at Farmington Summer Theater Workshop production, with public performances scheduled for Aug. 12, 13, and 14 at Alumni Hall in Farmington.

Director Nicholas Scott of the UMF Fine Arts Department said the play, written by John Patrick who authored "Teahouse of the August Moon" and "The Hasty Heart," is an entertaining comedy about a group of amateurs getting ready to put on Shakespeare's "MacBeth."

"It's a good show for us to do, since the workshop participants are, in effect, learning how to put on a play by doing it, and can identify well with these characters," Scott said. "Also, it seemed that a somewhat zany comedy would be good summer theater fare for audiences in this area," he said.

Members of the cast, who may earn three credits for participating in the workshop through the UMF summer session program, include: Noyes Campbell, George Day, Kaye Edgett, Chrystal Wing, Lela Ann Hiltz, and Harry Kerr, all of Farmington; Andrea Jackson, Yarmouth; Stephen Crockett, Portland; Louise Nicholas and Diane Hopkins, Wilton; Ted Atkinson, Industry; Ronald Trepanier, Auburn; Greg MacDougall, Rockland; Marilyn Grant, Temple; Dorothy Turner, and Deborah Willette, Nashua, N. H.; Beverly Salhanick, Brookline, Mass.; Ralph Giles, Hamilton, Mass.; Susan Donnell, Worcester, Mass.; and Randy Pike, Foxboro, Mass.

Curtain time for each performance is 7:30 p. m. Tickets may be purchased in advance at Mickey's Variety in Farmington or the UMF Fine Arts Office in Merrill Hall.
